Healthcare entities face financial penalties, legal costs, and brand reputational damage in the event that systems are breached and payment card data is exposed.

HEALTHCARE'S PAYMENT CARD SECURITY EXPOSURE

- Payment card data is highly sought after by malicious actors.
- Healthcare entities process credit card payment data for a variety of purposes (e.g. patient payment, charitable donations, gift shops).
- Security breaches have become commonplace and healthcare organizations offer a "soft" target.
- Payment card protection is oftentimes overlooked or under invested relative to safeguarding HIPAA Protected Health Information.

PCI DSS COMPLIANCE

- In response to the escalation of PCI card data breaches, banks have mandated that payment card merchants comply with security controls defined in the PCI DSS standard.
- Failure to comply may result in fines, penalties, and potentially the inability to process payment card transactions.

OUR SOLUTION

- Meditology is an accredited PCI DSS Qualified Security Assessor (QSA) company that exclusively serves the healthcare industry.
- Our PCI team has decades of experience assessing and implementing PCI DSS requirements for a variety of organizations and platforms including cloud-hosted solutions.
